

Letter to Shareholders

9-25-2009

Dear Shareholders:

I was perusing a journal and came across this appropriate statement: Far too many executives have become more concerned with the "four P's" - pay, perks, power and prestige - rather than making profits for shareholders. - T. Boone Pickens

Many of the shareholders have voiced their concerns on the status of the Pink sheet listing upgrade so I will enlighten everyone on this matter.

We have filed all the required documentation as per the pink sheet guidelines. It was filed this week and the pink sheets have a review of the submission. Upon review they sent us a comment letter with two or three queries based upon our disclosure as filed. They are standard questions that require our Counsel to respond and then add additional language to his opinion. The review is similar to listing your Company on an exchange.

I assure all shareholders not to worry; we are re-submitting disclosures and are fully compliant. The review is typical of the pink sheets in this marketplace and we will be approved shortly. The upgraded status will allow almost all brokerage firms in America to buy and sell our security which will give the Company full liquidity in the marketplace. Hopefully this will immediately equate to a sizable increase in our trading price.

Finally, as Mr. Pickens stated I am concerned for our shareholders. I am delighted to announce a landing page which should be fully functional by October 31st, 2009 so all shareholders can purchase our products at a discount. This will increase our sales and save everyone money for the Holiday shopping season!

I wish to thank everyone for the support. I am working diligently on everything I promised. We will have more press releases next month, announcing the 'Snoring deal'. This is awaiting some additional ingredients, which the manufacturer requires to produce the product. The other release will disclose even more details about the Re-Juv by Caci Internet Marketing Program.

Another shareholder letter will also disclose the September sales.

Profits and results are key!

Thank you,

Jorge Bravo
